While looking ahead to that final year, the juniors reflect on past and present happenings. Pensive moments of study, dressing in that "farmer fashion," and hurried exits at the 3:40 bell, characterized the year for the class of '73."

Happiness, sadness, beauty, despair, all parts of the world around us, can be expressed through the mediums of Art. Attempting to develop their talents in addition to awakening new awareness among classmates, the Artisans express themselves with brush and canvas, pastels, yarn, beads, and a host of other creative means.

bowling club

Under the direction of Mrs. Mabel White, sixteen student teams participated in the Co-educational Bowling League. Novice bowlers received personal instruction as the teams played each other once a week in practice at the Bluffton Bowling Center. Scores were tallied to determine the winning team for each practice. Jeff Heller, league secretary, was in charge of keeping records of weekly bowling averages and team standings.

The F.H.A. Club's active year included talks on drugs and welfare by special speakers, bowling, visiting a nursing home, a field trip to a children's home and a candy sale. These caused the group sponsored by Mrs. Hamilton to live up to their motto: "Toward New Horizons."

The Girls' Athletic Association provides extra-curricular activities for the sports-minded female. Besides forming volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, and track teams the association keeps busy with the coat-check booth during regular basketball season. Team practices and ordinary activity meetings provide times for shaping lasting friendships and the opportunity to unite and work together as teammates.

This "men only" club spent most of their fall and winter months keeping the football and basketball fans pleased at the refreshment stands. The club's contribution of $200 was for the planting of shrubs around the school. A "little trip" in the spring to a Cincinnati baseball game completed the year.

international club

The newest club is the International Club. It has approximately 100 members. They are all French, Spanish, German, and Latin students. Throughout the year the members have decorated the cafeteria with Spanish, German, French, Italian, South American, and International pictures. They have visited Heidelberg Restaurant in Huntington twice, with speakers and students from Germany and Southern Texas. The club has been very active.

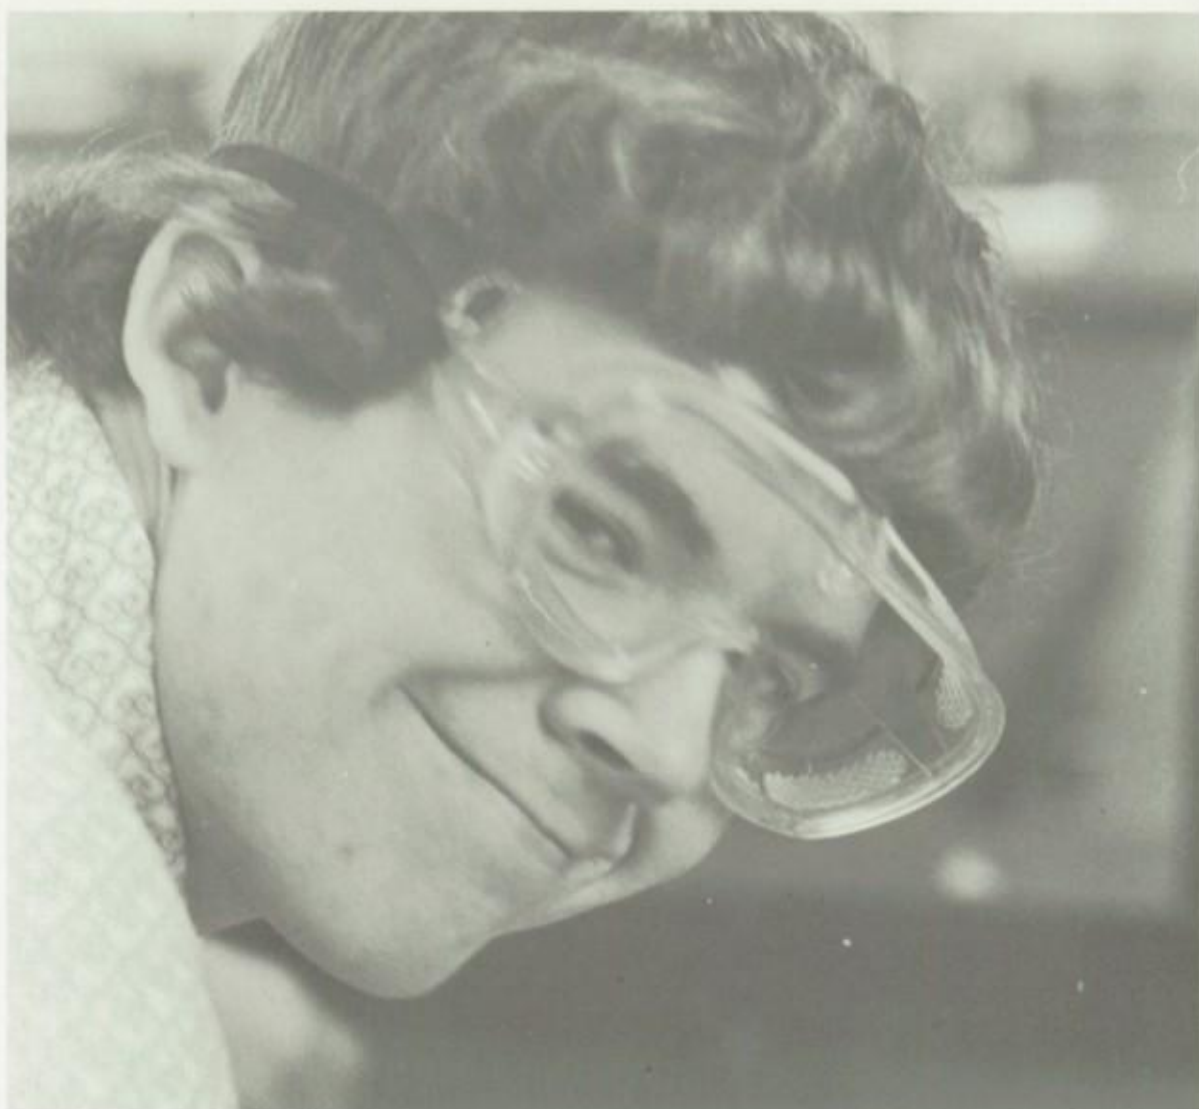

journalism class

Beginning with much confusion, baffling terms, and new machines we set into motion the Knight Life and the 1972 Accolade. Journalism class presents a time for perseverance and patience, for learning and showing skills. The all day field trip was a time for frolicking in a park and watching, in awe, the large scale production of a newspaper. In this book we see our final accomplishment; it is a time to review our months of labor.

With "others" as a motto, S.S.S. attempts to brighten up the school, community, and individual lives. The District convention, service projects, and special nights with best beaus fill the Sunshine calendar. Taking a place among leading organizations, this year's society was led by: Joan Baumgartner, president; Lynnette Wood, vice-president; Cindy Lindemann, treasurer; Liz Duncan, secretary; and Paula Jacobs, chaplain.

S.S.S.

Striving to better our high school productions, the Thespi-ans successfully presented both humorous and dramatic plays and skits throughout the year. "Dracula" was given to the public, while "The Ugly Duckling" and three reader theater selections were given to the students and faculty. Highlighting the actors' year was the original revision and performance of "How the Grinch Stole Christmas" before the holidays to usher in the "giving spirit."

a time to win . . . a time to lose . . .

Whether it's getting the play from the bench on an important third down, a half-time locker room pep talk, or a coach's last-minute advice to a wrestler going out on the mats, communication plays a key role in the scheme of any athletic program. With teams and coaches working toward a goal, that of victory, the wins have outweighed the losses.

With each year's experience behind them the Music Department seems to become more professional in the production of the annual high school musical. This year Fiddler on the Roof was a fantastic effort on the part of the cast, the director, the stage crew, and everyone else who had a part in the production.

Enjoyment comes in many forms, and along with it often comes frustration. But hard work and patience are required of every person who enjoys the field of art. And the rewards, material, or immaterial, are great.

So many people with all the same interest is something rather hard to find nowadays. Everyone is so involved with being different and doing their own thing, that many don't realize that if you get together as a group with other people who enjoy the same thing as you, that you can come up with something as beautiful and exciting as the music made by our choirs.

Excelling is a personal thing . . .
 sometimes within a group . . .
 sometimes accomplished individually . . .
 nonetheless many school hours are devoted to the practice and rehearsal for the contests, concerts, and numerous other performances made by the band.

One of the more "secluded" departments of Norwell, the administration molds the government of our school. The superintendent and his assistant, along with the school board, create the basic educational principles.

However, the school administrative organization actually lies in the hands of our own office. The principals enforce the rules of the school, besides occasionally playing "Frisbee" at noon! With perpetual smiles, the secretaries labor to complete piles of paper work. The team of guidance counselors assist students in making decisions, from "If I'm pretty sure that I want to go to Ball State, should I apply to other colleges, too?" to "Will you write me a pass to English?" The school nurse, who visits all the schools in our corporation, is here Fridays to treat all possible patients, whether the injury stems from a burn in the chemistry room or getting a finger caught in a locker door.

Our administration is composed of people dealing with people. It is a key factor in the coordination of school life.

Secretary-TreasurerJan Richardson

With a capable faculty, commendable students, and a reliable go-between, you have a successful school. The student council presents the ideas of the students to the faculty and administration, striving for a united and relaxed atmosphere.

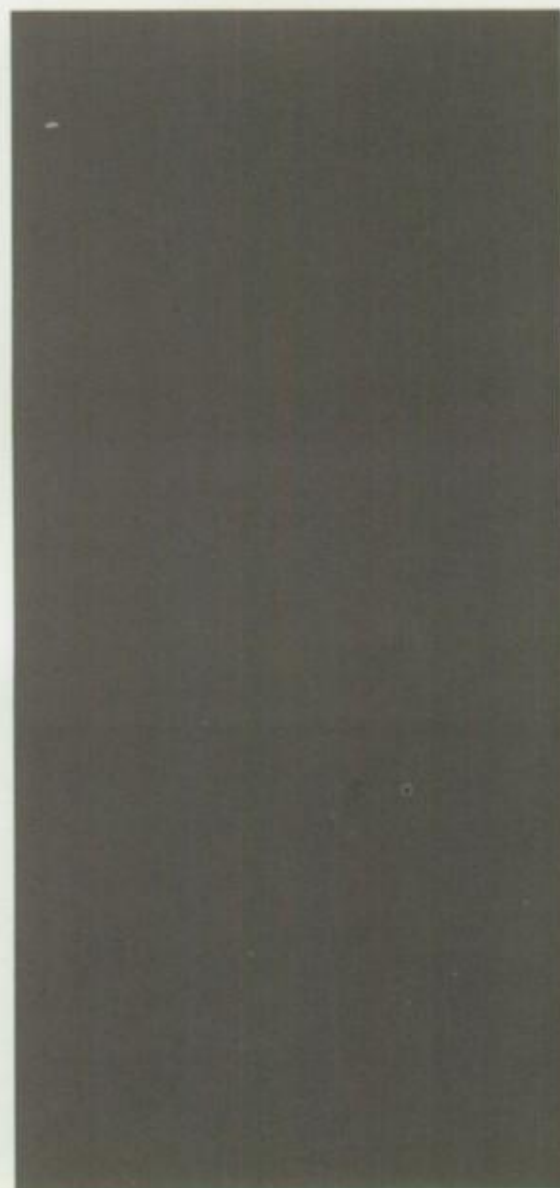

In addition to their job as middle-man, the student council promotes such projects as — earth day, shop talk, and mini courses.

Communication is man's most essential asset. Whether it be written or spoken, the basic concept is the same. Could you picture yourself where no one could speak clearly to another in at least one of the many languages of the world? Students realize the importance of communication and many of them go on to try their usage of French, Latin, Spanish or German as well as the English Language.

business

Fury, Thiele, Lehman, Gilbert, and Williams are the five young men who make up the business department faculty. Each has his master's degree in business education.

Students in the "all electric" curriculum keep themselves busy with typewriters, calculators, duplicating machines, practice sets, and of course textbook materials. Departmental courses give the students an advantage when seeking a job.

home economics

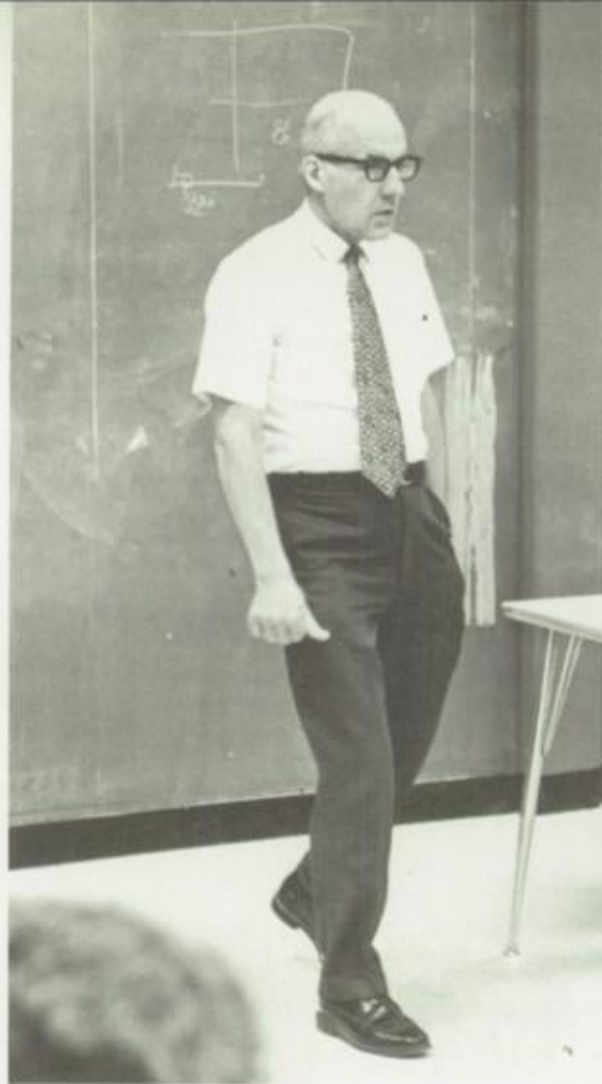

Sewing, cooking, interior decorating, and child care are just a few of the homemaking skills taught by Mrs. Rutenberg and Mrs. Hamilton. In cooking classes, the girls learn the importance of proper nutrition, and the preparation of meals. They learn to choose the proper fabric for the garments they plan to make. Caring for young children is another aspect of family life examined by the home economics department.

industrial arts

Help for students can be found in our industrial training programs. Personal enjoyment or a desire for knowledge in areas of electricity, woods, mechanical drawing or agriculture and the application of these vocational skills are part of the industrial arts department.

Department instructors are: Mr. John Mugg, Mr. Steve Jarboe, and Mr. Mike Harris.

library

It is chiefly through books that we enjoy intercourse with superior minds, and these invaluable means of communications are in the reach of all. In the best books, great men talk to us, giving us their most precious thoughts, and pour their souls into ours.

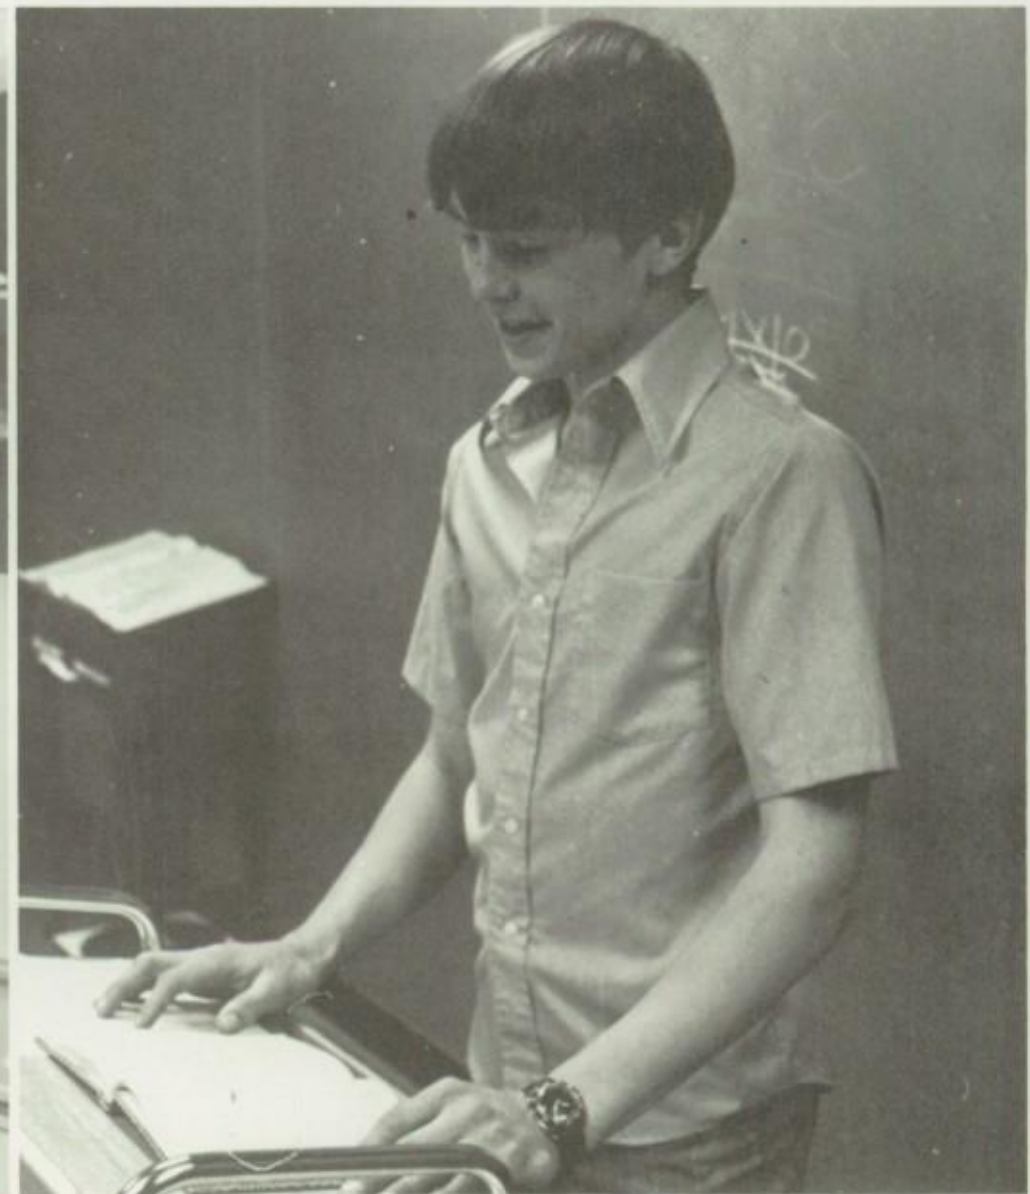

— Channing

math

Learning the fundamentals of mathematics proved enjoyable as well as practical under the direction of Mr. Herb Trip, Mr. Dan Mosure, Miss Marilyn Watson, and Mr. Ted Waters. In addition to the basic courses required for graduation, advanced courses were offered to those students working toward a math major.

social science

Learning the lay of the land, the way of the people, and the history of the world provides the outline for Social Science classes of world history, government, U. S. history, sociology, psychology and international problems.

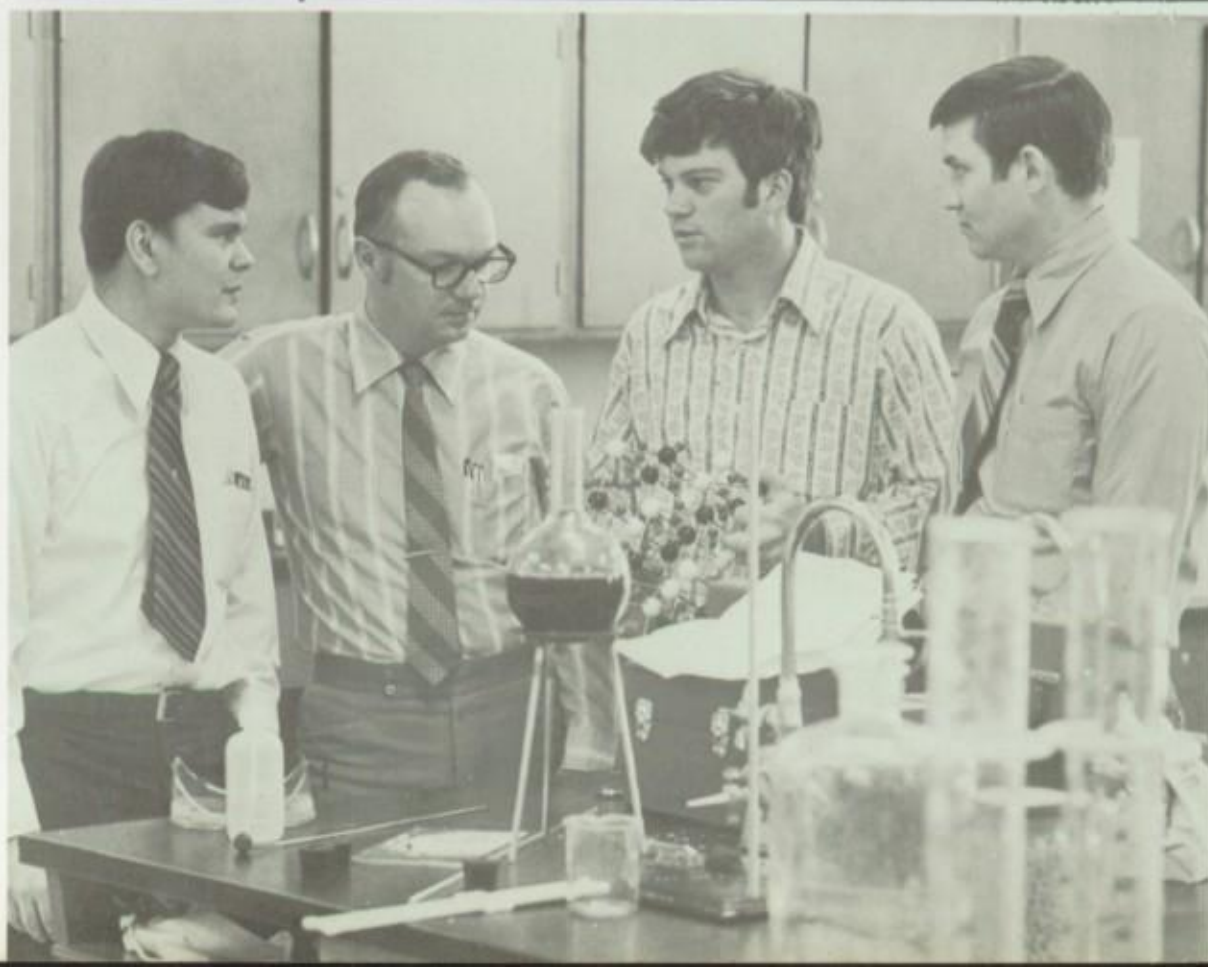

Instructors in these courses are Rex Decker, Mabel White, Max Rose, Joe Hanauer, Jerry Lewis, and Frank Garton.

Science courses offer the "hows" and "whys" of a rapidly changing world while encouraging one to explore mysteries of the world about us. We prepare ourselves for continual inquiry into the world of the future as well as the present and past.

Science teachers are: Mr. Al Sutton, Mr. Verlyn Scherrer, Mr. Sim Hain, and Mr. Bernard Jump.

physical education

Striving to prevent that "sagged and bagged" look of later life, the Physical Education Department selected activities that could be continued for years to come. Instructors gave students a broad experience in physical exercise and offered the opportunity to develop bodies as well as minds.

P.E. instructors are: Miss Cecelia Ellis, and Mr. Neil Kinsey.

to reminisce over the activities of four years, times of learning, of laughter, of building friendships to last for years to come. And yet, this time to go on has come. New lives must be started using knowledge and experience gained during school years, lives that are worthwhile and prosperous — a time to begin, again.

Death, be not proud,
 Though some have called thee
 Mighty and dreadful,
 For thou art not so:
 For those whom thou
 Think'st thou dost overthrow
 Die not, poor Death;
 Not yet canst thou kill me.
 From Rest and Sleep,
 Which but thy pleasure be,
 Much pleasure, then from
 Thee much more must flow;
 And soonest our best men
 With thee do go —
 Rest of their bones
 And soul's delivery!
 Thou'rt slave to fate, chance,
 Kings, and desperate men,
 And dost with poison,
 War, and sickness dwell;
 And poppy or charms can
 Make us sleep as well
 And better than thy stroke.
 Why swell'st thou then?
 One short sleep past,
 We wake eternally,
 And Death shall be no more:
 Death, thou shalt die!
